

GC Climate Series

Featuring

Bert Drake, PhD

GreenConnected's Chief Scientist

During his long career with the Smithsonian Institution, Drake undertook one of the first and most influential experiments on the effects of rising atmospheric CO<sub>2</sub> and climate change on the carbon cycle of land ecosystems. Today, he speaks to executives and employees about the climate and how to plan their corporate future.

Learn climate science. Discover business alternatives. Plan your future.

Credentials

As a 20+ year scientist and distinguished lecturer of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C., Bert Drake, PhD, received over $10 million dollars in external grants, authored over 120 publications, served as consultant to NASA, the Department of Energy, HSBC Bank, and taught as a visiting professor of Universite Paris Sud, University of Vienna, George Washington University, American University, University of Delaware, and many more.

Appearances

NASA, University of Florida, Oregon State University, University of Montana, Archbold Biological Research Station, University of Illinois, George Mason University, NASA, University of Maryland, Swiss FACE Workshop in Switzerland, University of Toronto, NOAA, Bowdoin College, Maine School for Science and Mathematics, University of Maine, University of California, Blackland Research Institute, Arizona State University, University of Oslo, McGill University, Smithsonian Institution, Colorado Rocky Mountain School, McGill University, SERC, University of Delaware, McGill University, National Science Teachers Association, Carrabassette Valley Academy, SERC, Evening Lecture Series, Key School, Everglades Restoration and Environmental Science Magnet Program, South Plantation High School, Waynesville High School, University of North Carolina at Wilmington, NASA Kennedy Space Center, BIOFORSK, Oslo, Norway, Gramado, Brazil, Plenary address, Brazilian Society of Plant Physiology, SERC Seminar Series, Global Warming Action Alliance,, University of Central Florida, et al.

Program

Bert Drake's speaking engagements and corporate events are individually crafted to educate businesses about the community and world impact of climate change and how it will effect their company in the future. His unique approach and material, based on 20+ years of personal research and field experience, have inspired and motivated executives and employees around the world. Your company will have the opportunity to learn, connect, converse, and explore sustainability options for your own company and community.

To exclusively book Dr. Bert Drake for your next corporate event, please contact Green Connected.

Website: <http://www.greenconnected.com>

Email: info@greenconnected.com

Phone: 1(877)-219-GCGC (4242)